March 7, 2022 (St. Louis, MO) - The Contemporary Art Museum St. Louis presents an exhibition of recent work by Gala Porras-Kim, whose engagements with institutions and the cultural artifacts they collect has produced a profound body of work. The artist questions how objects live and move through the world, how knowledge is derived from objects, and what stories are being told about them and from whose perspective. Gala Porras-Kim: Correspondences towards the living object features five recent projects, which include drawings, sculpture, and sound, presented at CAM, March 25 through July 24, 2022.

Each project is a mediation between an object or collection of objects and the institutions in which they are kept. The discussions often take shape as letters authored by the artist and sent to various institutions. In the galleries, a letter is part of each project, presented alongside works of art in the form of drawings, sculptures, and other materials that expand on these mediations. With some projects, Porras-Kim makes drawings of artifacts to recategorize or represent them through a different point of view. In others, she recreates sculptural replicas of sacred objects to stand in for the originals that have been removed. Some projects include mediations between the artist and the spirits of the dead, resulting in works that offer the deceased agency.

The exhibition's projects prioritize a person's or a people's wishes for their objects to live in perpetuity, rendering the goals of the institutions as secondary. This reorientation exposes many of the tensions within museum administrative processes, conservation practices, and legal policies. The exhibition poses the question: can the multiple functions of these objects—from both the past and present—be made to somehow coexist?

The exhibition is supported in part by the National Endowment for the Arts and sponsored by Ann R. Ruwitch and John Fox Arnold, and the Henry Moore Foundation. The Artist Talk is sponsored by the Robert Lehman Foundation.

Gala Porras-Kim: Correspondences towards the living object is organized for the Contemporary Art Museum St. Louis by Wassan Al-Khudhairi, Chief Curator, with Misa Jeffereis, Assistant Curator.

About the Contemporary Art Museum St. Louis

The Contemporary Art Museum St. Louis creates meaningful engagement with the most relevant and innovative art being made today. Founded by civic and cultural leaders in 1980, the Museum transformed from a small gallery into an internationally recognized arts institution, now permanently housed in a flexible, open, and inviting building designed by renowned American architect Brad Cloepfil. CAM's distinct architecture reflects the organization's values and supports a dynamic range of exhibitions, public programs, educational initiatives, and community collaborations. The only museum in the region solely dedicated to contemporary art, CAM is one of the preeminent non-collecting institutions of its kind in the United States. We are a site for discovery, a welcoming space, free and open to all. For more information, visit camstl.org.
